Day 1 Paris-Loire Valley-Tours

Tours or nearby cities

Departing from Paris around 8am for the Loire Valley, classified as a UNESCO World Heritage Site, it could sum up the genius, the sweetness and the French art of living.

A guided tour of the Château de Chambord and the Château de Chenonceau, these two wonders are talked about far beyond borders. In the afternoon, if there have the time, continue to the town of Amboise located on the banks of the Loire, which is listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Amboise Castle at Clos Lucé where Leonard de Vinci lived the last three years of his life.

A gallery which the king used when he came to see the painter and finally the famous room of Leonardo da Vinci, the very place where he died watched over by the king himself.

【The Loire Valley】

It is known as the mother river of France, it is the longest river in France. Its length is more than 1,000 kilometers.

There are magnificent castles and grape plantations which can be seen everywhere on both sides of the river valley. These architects show the style of France on the other side.

【Chambord Castle】

Largest of all the Loire castles. François 1er had imagined his ideal city there, today the emblem of the French Renaissance. He did not live there, but came willingly to hunt there, as evidenced by the trophy gallery. It was considered a national treasure by the French and was inscribed on the List of World Cultural Heritage in 1981.

【Chenonceau Castle】

This adorable white castle which is reflected in the waters of the Cher. This is the famous "ladies' castle": it belonged to six women, including Diane de Poitiers and her rival, Catherine de Médicis. It is to the latter that we owe the gallery that spans the Cher. Besides, Chenonceau is the only bridge castle in the world. Zigzagging between its arches aboard a boat allows you to discover it very closely.
